PROJECT BUILD ESSENTIALS: HELP YOURSELF, HELP OTHERS

A charity / community initiative will be the beneficiary of the project.

The cohort is assigned the responsibility of executing the build project.

The participants will decide how to execute the project, and the coaches will facilitate and guide.
Data will be gathered from the participants and the group, providing identifiable areas for development.

The cohort completes the project, handing it over to the beneficiaries and savouring their personal and collective achievement!
With the coaches' facilitation, participants undergo a thorough debrief and chart out their coaching journey for the next six months.
